In The Chair: President

Senator Albert asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Albert’s statement is as follows:

It is unfortunate that I am forced to offer this substitute at this time and in this manner, but the approach by the majority has left me no choice. Their approach is unreasonable, it disrespects the taxpayers and the people of Michigan who pay the state’s bills, and they are making it very difficult for the public to understand what is really going on. There have been no public hearings on this Senate bill. We started with an apparent book-closing supplemental appropriations bill that has become a shell bill devoid of any meaningful content. And now comes an attempt to send this bill to a conference committee where decisions will be made by very few and in a format that cannot be amended in any way. It is being done secretly and in a big hurry.

Since we have received no information about anything of the true intent of this bill, my concern is that the Democrats are attempting to circumvent the normal legislative process to dictate an economic development spending plan that cannot be altered in any way. That leaves me no recourse but to propose my alternative plan right now. I would have greatly preferred being able to discuss this measure in committee, but here we are. My substitute for Senate Bill No. 7 is a robust plan that will offer tax relief, pay down debt, and save for a rainy day. It will offer at least $1.8 billion of ongoing, much-needed, and fairly-applied tax relief for all Michigan taxpayers. This plan would offer seniors a lower retirement age of 65 and double the amount of income that can be exempted to $40,000 for a single filer and $80,000 for a joint filer, increase the personal exemption for single filers to $10,000 and $20,000 for joint filers, leaving more income up front that’s tax-free for all Michigan taxpayers. It lowers the tax bill for lower wage earners proportionally more than higher wage earners, and it does so without the flaws of the earned income tax credit.

Additionally, this plan would lower the income tax rate to 4.1 percent, or the rate that’s automatically triggered, whichever is lower. This will help all Michigan families and promote economic growth statewide. This plan adds $500 million to the rainy day fund to offset the risks that are pending from a very likely economic downturn. On top of that, to further improve our fiscal health this plan offers $2.75 billion for debt reduction. There is $1 billion for the debt maturity payoff fund used to pay off our state obligations early, an additional $750 million for the local unit municipal pension principal payment grant which helps strengthen our local governments’ fiscal health and better protect our pensioners’ retirement incomes, and it adds $1 billion for a newly-created transportation bond repayment sinking fund. This would help pay down debt to get more ongoing funding for road maintenance and also create a financial disincentive for taking out more reckless debt.

We do not know what this year is going to bring on the economic front. We might get a mild recession; we might get something worse than we suffered in the 2009 Great Recession. There is a lot of uncertainty and we should be using our resources to put the state in a better financial position. This will ensure we can continue to offer essential public services without having to make cuts, even in an economic downturn. We should be planning for a worst-case scenario rather than using taxpayer dollars to act as hedge fund managers. Thank you, and I urge your support for this substitute.

By unanimous consent the Senate returned to the order of
