The Senate agreed to the title of the bill.

Senators Lindsey and Geiss asked and were granted unanimous consent to make statements and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Lindsey's statement is as follows:

This bill and others in this package set out to address a noble issue: disparities in perinatal care. However, as currently written, they only address some of the issues regarding perinatal care. For instance, despite making up 14 percent of the population, Black women account for over half of pregnancy terminations in our state.

My amendment would strengthen this bill by ensuring that this disparity is included in the report to the Legislature and the reporting that goes on under this legislation. This data will help guide future policy decisions and make sure that medical professionals will not pressure patients to end their pregnancy simply based on their race.

I think it's paramount for us as a Legislature to make sure the rights of every mother and expecting mother in Michigan are protected. I hope my colleagues will join me in voting "yes" on my amendment.

Senator Geiss' statement is as follows:

Today marks an important mile marker on this journey for the Michigan "momnibus." Senate Bill Nos. 818 through 823 and 825 and House Bill No. 5826 represent years of work developed by and centered in community. I want to thank my colleagues from the 2nd, 3rd, 6th, and 21st Senate districts and for the good Representative from the 13th House District for partnering on this pivotal legislation that is designed to bring greater equity and accountability to Michigan's maternal health care landscape.

The Michigan "momnibus" was created by amplifying the voices, experiences, and needs of Black birthing people, mothers, families, and stakeholders, as well as other minoritized and rural birthing people, mothers, and families. It recognizes and includes the exact things that over the years these communities have said they need and want to see come to fruition when it comes to prenatal, obstetric, and postnatal care. While the state has already made some improvements to prenatal, maternal, and postnatal health care, we know there's much more work to be done to reduce the significant disparities and outcomes for Black birthing people across socioeconomic and education levels. Not anecdotally but by the numbers, from our state's own maternal mortality review report, the Centers for Disease Control, the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecologists, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the Black Mamas Matter alliance, the National Birth Equity Collaborative, and so many other organizations, including Michigan's own state of birth justice, the collective that was central in developing the Michigan "momnibus."

While the Legislature has already done a lot of work on securing reproductive freedom, the Michigan "momnibus" uplifts the critical mission of achieving reproductive justice, especially for the very people for whom without reproductive justice, reproductive freedom scarcely exists. By improving data collection, by making sure that people's birthing plans are respected, by making sure people can be covered wherever they desire to have labor and delivery, by allowing them to have doulas, by making sure we have improved access to doulas through a scholarship fund, and so much more, by making sure that pregnancy and lactation status are included under the Elliott-Larsen Civil Rights Act, and so much more, we are going to improve the landscape for people who are still in harm's way throughout their pregnancies, birth, and postnatally.

I urge a "yes" vote. I want to remind people that this is not about abortion. This is about people who have made the decision to carry—to go through with their pregnancy, and want to make sure that regardless of where they're from and who they are and the type of birth experience they want, to be centered in joy and love and the type of care they need and want to have a successful healthy pregnancy.

The following bill was read a third time:

Senate Bill No. 819, entitled

A bill to create the biased and unjust care reporting act; and to provide for the powers and duties of certain state governmental officers and entities.

The question being on the passage of the bill,
Senator Geiss offered the following substitute:
Substitute (S-3).

The question being on the adoption of the substitute,

Protests

Senator Lindsey, under his constitutional right of protest (Art. 4, Sec. 18), protested against the passage of Senate Bill Nos. 818 and 819 and moved that the statement he made during the discussion of Senate Bill No. 818 be printed as his reasons for voting “no.”

The motion prevailed.

Senator Lindsey’s statement is as follows:

We just voted on an amendment and it was voted down in the chamber, and that amendment sought to address the full scope of disparities of racial bias in perinatal care. I think after that vote, it proves for this chamber that the majority is not serious about improving health outcomes for all mothers and newborn children in our state. We can’t simply turn a blind eye on issues as important as the one I brought up: the idea that certain communities have drastically different outcomes when it comes to having abortions as a result of a pregnancy. Passing yet another government report that only addresses part of the issue is a disserve to expectant mothers across Michigan. I ask for a “no” vote on these bills.

The following bill was read a third time:

Senate Bill No. 820, entitled

A bill to amend 1978 PA 368, entitled “Public health code,” by amending sections 20201 and 21513 (MCL 333.20201 and 333.21513), section 20201 as amended by 2016 PA 499 and section 21513 as amended by 2022 PA 265, and by adding section 21537.
