SUMMARY:

House Bill 4816 would create a new act, the Compensation of High School Athletes Act, to provide guidelines for high school student athletes and their ability to receive compensation for their name, image, or likeness (NIL).

Specifically, the bill would prohibit a high school from upholding any rule, requirement, standard, or other limitation that prevents a student of that high school from fully participating in high school athletics based on the student's earning compensation as a result of their use of their NIL rights, and provide that the earning of compensation by a high school student athlete from their use of their NIL rights must not affect their scholarship eligibility or renewal.

High school would mean a public or nonpublic school that offers at least one of grades 9-12.

Prohibited actions

The bill also would prohibit an athletic association, conference, or other group or organization with authority over high school athletics from doing either of the following:

- Preventing a high school student from fully participating in high school athletics based on the student's earning compensation as a result of their use of their NIL rights.
- Preventing a high school from fully participating in high school athletics without penalty based on a student of that school's use of their NIL rights.

An athletic association would mean an entity that operates for the purpose of developing common rules for the eligibility and competition of high school student athletes in Michigan.

The bill would also prohibit a high school, athletic association, conference, or other group or organization with authority over high school athletics from doing any of the following:

- Providing a prospective student athlete of a high school with compensation in relation to the prospective student athlete's NIL rights.
- Preventing a student athlete of a high school from obtaining professional representation in relation to contracts or legal matters regarding opportunities to be compensated, including representation provided by an athlete agent or legal representation provided by an attorney.
- Preventing a student athlete of a high school from earning compensation (which here would include food, shelter, medical expenses, and insurance) from a third party as a result of the student's NIL rights, or athletic reputation, as long as the student's contract with the third party does not require the student to advertise for a sponsor in person during official, mandatory team activities.

A high school, athletic association, conference, or other group or organization with authority over high school athletics could not interfere with or prevent a student from fully participating in high school athletics based on the student's obtaining professional representation in relation to contracts or legal matters regarding their opportunities to earn compensation, including representation provided by an athlete agent or financial advisor or legal representation provided by an attorney.

An athletic association, conference, or other group or organization with authority over high school athletics also could not prevent a high school from fully participating in high school athletics without penalty as a result of a student of the high school's obtaining professional representation in relation to contracts or legal matters regarding the student's opportunities to earn compensation, including representation provided by an athlete agent or financial advisor or legal representation by an attorney.

(For purposes of the above two paragraphs, professional representation by an athlete agent, financial advisor, or attorney would have to be provided by persons licensed in Michigan.)

An athletics grant-in-aid or stipend scholarship from the high school of a student would not be considered compensation for use of the student's NIL rights, and a high school could not revoke or reduce an athletics grant-in-aid or stipend scholarship based on the student's earning compensation in accordance with the new act.

Required notice of NIL opportunity

The bill would prohibit a high school student athlete from entering into an apparel contract that providing them compensation for use of their NIL rights that requires them to display a sponsor's apparel, or otherwise advertise for a sponsor, during official team activities if the provision is in conflict with a contract regarding the student's athletic team.

A student athlete who intends to enter into a verbal or written opportunity or contract that would provide them compensation for use of their NIL rights would have to disclose the proposed opportunity or contract for review to an official of their high school, as designated by the high school, at least seven days before committing to the opportunity or contract

If the high school identifies a conflict between the student's proposed opportunity or contract and any existing agreements of the high school, the high school would have to communicate that conflict to the student so the student could negotiate a revision of the opportunity or contract to avoid the conflict. That revision would be subject to additional review and approval by the high school in accordance with these provisions.

A team contract of a high school's athletic program could not prevent a student athlete from receiving compensation for using their NIL rights for a commercial purpose when the student is not engaged in official team activities. This would include participating in or being part of an advertisement that was created while the student was not engaged in official team activities but that could otherwise be broadcast, displayed, or disseminated at any time.

The above provisions would not apply to a contract entered into, modified, or renewed on or before the effective date of bill. (With regard to those provisions, then, the bill would take effect the day after it takes effect.)

Scope of the act

The act would not require a high school, athletic association, conference, or other group or organization with authority over high school athletics to identify, create, facilitate, negotiate, or otherwise enable opportunities for a high school student athlete to earn compensation for NIL rights. A high school or any officer, director, or employee of the high school, including a coach, a member of a coach staff, or any individual associated with the high school athletic department, could identify or otherwise assist with opportunities for a student to earn compensation from a third party for their NIL rights or athletic reputation, as long as the high school or individual does not do any of the following:

- Serve as a student's agent.
- Receive compensation from the student or a third party for facilitating or enabling those opportunities.
- Attempt to influence the student athlete's choice of professional representation related to those opportunities.
- Attempt to reduce the student's opportunities from competing third parties.
- Attend any meeting at which a contract for compensation for the use of the student's NIL rights or athletic reputation is negotiated or completed between the student and a third party.

The bill also would not establish or bestow the right of a student to use the name, trademarks, service marks, logos, symbols, or any other intellectual property, whether registered or not, of a high school, athletic association, conference, or other group or organization with authority over high school athletics in furtherance of their opportunities to earn compensation for the use of their NIL rights.

The bill also would not limit the right of a high school to establish and enforce any of the following:

- Academic standards, requirements, regulations, or obligations for its students.
- Team rules of conduct or other rules of conduct.
- Standards or policies regarding the governance or operation of or participation in high school varsity athletics.
- Disciplinary rules and standards generally applicable to all students of the high school.

Required reporting

By December 31, 2024, and by December 31, 2025, any nonprofit trade association that represents high schools in this state would have to provide a written summary of any congressional action on legislation on student athlete NIL compensation for each of those years to the chair of the appropriations committees of the House and the Senate.

By June 30, 2026, any nonprofit trade association that represents high schools in this state would have to provide to the chair of the appropriations committees of the House and the Senate a written summary of the preparedness of the association's respective member high schools in implementing the new act. (Note that the bill does not include a prospective effective date.)

Legal settlements

Finally, the bill would stipulate that a legal settlement arising under the act could not permit noncompliance with the act. (Note that the bill does not provide any penalties or remedies for violating any of its prohibitions.)

FISCAL IMPACT:

The bill would have no fiscal impact on the state and minimal fiscal impact on local school districts, intermediate school districts (ISDs), and public school academies (PSAs). Administrative rules, practices, and materials may have to be updated, but those costs should be minimal and absorbed under current funding levels.
